

The Let's Guide on-line platform is already running!

Partners of the Let's Guide project designed the on-line platform with training course and interactive learning scenarios in order to develop entrepreneurial competences.

After several months of hard work of Let's Guide project partners, the main result of the project - the training platform was developed and is already available on: <http://letsguide.erasmusplus.website>. So far, the English version is available, but soon the platform will offer contents in Spanish, Swedish, Italian, Polish, Greek and Slovene language. The main content of the platform is thematically divided into 5 primary entrepreneurial competences. After choosing the competence, the user will be guided from the main study content, through interactive learning scenarios and films up to the quiz, in which he can test his knowledge.

Project partners have already performed the 1st external testing of the Let's Guide on-line platform with training course. Each partner invited 5 general users and 2 trainers. The feedback collected during sessions is very positive and will be used in order to improve the platform.

The introductory video presents the structure of the platform in greater detail.

The main aim of the platform is to offer a free on-line training course for people, who think about starting the entrepreneurial adventure (future entrepreneurs, free-lancers, unemployed). The content focuses on competences that are crucial for becoming a successful entrepreneur.

The project team is recently working on the preparation of the Trainers' Guide with Teaching Notes on how to use the Let's Guide Course and Interactive Learning Scenarios in your classroom.
